

OLIVERIAN

A school as unique as its students.

Oliverian Newsletter Graduation 2019

Head of School Commencement Address: Naked Hillbilly Beekeepers

In his commencement address, Will Laughlin explores what beekeeping - naked beekeeping, to be more specific - can teach graduating seniors about life after Oli. Read more here.

What's New at Oli? We're glad you asked...

- Summer Session begins June 23! We're thrilled for another summer of adventures with a stellar group of students.
- Graduation pictures are available for purchase here!

Commencement 2019 Student Speaker Address: Aidan Nussbaum

Aidan Nussbaum, the class of 2019 graduation speaker, explains what makes his fellow graduates so special - and how, through their hardships, they've grown stronger as individuals and as a community.

Read More

Oliverian Abroad: Our Service Trip to Peru

Eight students traveled with Spanish teacher Bill Kearney and director of academics Abby Hood to build a water system in Peru, service that positively impacted the community and left a profound impression on participants.

Read More

Our Students ROCK: Jacob and Charles Talk Geology Research

What happens when you step into nature's classroom? You may just strike gold. That's exactly what happened to Oli student Jacob Genga.

Jacob and fellow science enthusiast Charles Handler are the two ambitious students at the helm of this year's Geology Research Group, led by science teacher and Dean of Studies Dr. Peter Tice.

Read More

